Accessibility of worship

Church needs to be a place where as much as possible, all who come to our services are able to access the worship.

We have recently been made aware of a number of people who struggle with service books and hymn books, both physically and visually.

So from Sunday 22nd August all main morning services, both the liturgy and the hymns will be on the screens.

Service books and hymn books will still be given out for those who wish to use them.

Dads v. Children Family Afternoon !!

A colorful illustration of a family of ten people (two adults and eight children) playing a game of tag or a similar activity on a green field. They are holding hands or a rope. In the background, there is a blue sky with a white cloud and a white net-like structure. The scene is framed by a decorative border of small diamonds in blue, orange, and white.

Thought for the Month....

Jesus said “you have heard it said “Love your neighbours and hate your enemy.” But I tell you; Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you.” (Matthew 5 vs.43-44 NIV)

In these words Jesus turned the expected standards of behaviour upside down. It was okay to hate your enemies wasn't it? But Jesus says “show them a different standard, show them the love of God, and hold them in your prayers”.

There are people in this world we don't always get on with, some we can't stand, some by human standards we might even perhaps hate. But as Christians we are called to higher standards, may we try and live up to them. And when we fail, let us ask God for his strength.
